

Kluwer Patent Blog

Switzerland : Actelion v. ICOS, Federal Supreme Court of Switzerland, 1st Civil Law Chamber, BGE 143 III 284A_222/2016, 15 December 2016

Peter Ling (Lenz & Staehelin) · Friday, November 3rd, 2017

The “representative” registered with the Swiss Patent Register for the Swiss part of a European patent does not constitute a legal representative within the meaning of the Code of Civil Procedure. Consequently, court documents must not be served to such “representative”, but must be sent by the official channels of judicial assistance in civil matters to the foreign domicile or seat of the patent holder.

A full summary of this case has been published on Kluwer IP Law.

To make sure you do not miss out on regular updates from the Kluwer Patent Blog, please subscribe here.

Want to improve your IP strategy?

- Manual of Industrial Property
- IP Analytics
- Visser – Annotated European Patent Convention

230+ jurisdictions
36,000+ cases
100+ books
600+ IP law professionals as authors

Request a free demo now
KluwerIPLaw.com

Wolters Kluwer

This entry was posted on Friday, November 3rd, 2017 at 1:11 am and is filed under Case Law, Switzerland

You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. Both comments and pings are currently closed.