Kluwer Patent Blog

Apparatus for closing containers, Federal Court of Justice (Bundesgerichtshof), 07 October 2009

Clemens Rübel · Monday, September 7th, 2009 · Landmark European Patent Cases

The Federal Court of Justice confirmed the legal reasoning of the Federal Patent Court that a company that continued the business of another company, while it was founded independently from the continued company and does not take over the trade name under which it conducted business, is not bound by a non-contest clause between the continued company and the patent holder. This applies even to cases where the new company can be suspected to act as a straw man in order to evade the non-contest clause. This may violate the non-contest clause, but does not eliminate the right to sue of the new company in nullity actions against the patent.

The full summary of this case has been published on Kluwer IP Law.

---

To make sure you do not miss out on regular updates from the Kluwer Patent Blog, please subscribe here.

Kluwer IP Law

The 2022 Future Ready Lawyer survey showed that 79% of lawyers think that the importance of legal technology will increase for next year. With Kluwer IP Law you can navigate the increasingly global practice of IP law with specialized, local and cross-border information and tools from every preferred location. Are you, as an IP professional, ready for the future?

Learn how Kluwer IP Law can support you.

79% of the lawyers think that the importance of legal technology will increase for next year.

Drive change with Kluwer IP Law.
The master resource for Intellectual Property rights and registration.

Wolters Kluwer

2022 SURVEY REPORT
The Wolters Kluwer Future Ready Lawyer
Leading change

This entry was posted on Monday, September 7th, 2009 at 7:26 am and is filed under Art. 123(2) of the European Patent Convention (EPC), a European patent (application) may not be amended in such a way that it contains subject-matter which extends beyond the content of the application as filed. Adding subject-matter which is not disclosed would give an applicant an unwarranted advantage and could be damaging to the legal security of third parties. (G 1/93, OJ 1994, 541) The 'gold standard' of the European Patent Office's Board of Appeal is that "any amendment can only be made within the limits of what a skilled person would derive directly and unambiguously, using common general knowledge, and seen objectively and relative to the date of filing, from the whole of the documents as filed" (G 3/89, OJ 1993,117; G 11/91, OJ 1993, 125).">Added matter, Case Law, Germany, Mechanical Engineering
You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments (RSS) feed. Both comments and pings are currently closed.