Patent case: Judgment no. 677/2021 of Barcelona Commercial Court no. 5, Spain

Adrian Crespo (Clifford Chance) · Wednesday, July 13th, 2022

Barcelona Commercial Court no. 5 – arguably Spain’s most active patent court – rules in an infringement case concerning motorcycle helmets. The features of a claim cannot be narrowed down based on a preferred embodiment represented in one of the drawings. While probably not a watershed case, this precedent should be considered in future disputes concerning claim construction. Moreover, it showcases the maturity, reliability and effectiveness of patent enforcement in Spain and thus the growing quality of the Spanish IP ecosystem.

Case date: 28 October 2021

Case number: No. 677/2021

Court: Commercial Court of Barcelona
