Redesigned Kluwer IP Law live!

Kluwer Patent blogger · Tuesday, December 13th, 2022

Wolters Kluwer has redesigned and relaunched Kluwer IP Law with a range of new functionalities. Legal professionals can now customize the homepage view according to their needs which will help users be more efficient and effective in their day-to-day work.

With the redesign, users can save their favorite materials for future reference and will have instant access to Kluwer IP Law's News Alert service. Some of the new features are:

- Adjustment of navigation on homepage with dropdown menu
- Customization options on the homepage including “Quick Links” feature

- New Favorites functionality
- Redesign of Book results page, search results page and document page
- Improved search and filtering functionality
- Redesign of newsfeed including filtering option

There is a dedicated section on the homepage to access all UPC and UP related content on Kluwer IP law.

Kluwer IP Law is Wolters Kluwer's flagship service focused on all key IP law, providing legal professionals with quick answers and expert commentary from prominent practitioners and thought leaders. Kluwer IP Law also provides users with key EPC sources for European patent attorneys, such as Visser's Annotated European Patent Convention and the PCT Practice and Strategy work. Manual IP, also known as the Brown Book, which is housed within Kluwer IP Law, explains and compares the procedures and laws involved in filing applications for patents, trademarks, or designs in 237 jurisdictions to make important IP practice decisions.
